VECTOR Flexible is a global allocation fund that is managed with the same set of proprietary mathematical valuation models that drive the stock selection process in VECTOR Navigator: we systematically screen global equity markets in search of undervalued stocks, by continuously assessing 2700 quoted companies on their growth, risk and valuation properties. Out of this vast universe, we construct a portfolio of around 90 companies, based on their chances of outperforming their peers in the months following their selection. VECTOR Flexible and Navigator are holding the same stocks, in exactly the same proportions.

The difference between both funds is in their approach to risk. Navigator will in principle always remain fully invested, targeting a Beta of 1.00 throughout a full business cycle. It will try to outperform the equity markets in good as well as in bad times, without taking on more - or less - risk than the market.

Flexible allocates its resources between equity markets and cash (or fixed income) markets and always has some protection against unexpected market downturns, by systematically hedging 25% of market risk. When we have reason to believe equity markets might not perform all that well in the near future, we will further reduce our equity exposure, possibly to 0%. Flexible consequently should, at all times and in all market conditions, be of a more defensive nature than Navigator. Certainly when we have successfully predicted a market correction, but also in the event of an unexpected market downturn.

This decision to increase hedging is based on the outcome of a quantitative decision process that compares current market conditions to 55 years of detailed financial history, so as to place present conditions in historical perspective, and make a well-informed judgment about the direction of markets. Our decision process is based on an analysis of 15 factors in total:

- 5 macro-economic factors (such as newly authorized Building Permits)
- 5 "technical" factors (such as the 200-day moving average of the S&P500)
- 5 valuation factors (such as the current risk premium on equities versus bonds)
